Keep Planning Teenage Parties

Next week, the Canyon High School student council will begin selling Canyon Community Recreation Center membership cards. The price has been set at 50 cents per card for both junior high school and senior high school students.

The first recreation activities will be December 29, junior high night, and December 31, senior high night. Both will be at the National Guard Armory located on the east side of Canyon.

According to the recreation center policy which was set Nov. 22 at the first meeting of the executive board, members of the center may bring a guest for a fee of 50 cents. The member is held in full responsibility for his guest.

The policy, which is printed on the backs of membership card requires at least two parents will be present each night. No drinking, smoking or profanity will be allowed.

A different class will help with recreation activities which will be held separately for senior high and junior high each group having one night a month. The senior class is to help with the decorating for the inaugural nights.

Different adult couples will be chosen each month to sponsor the program.

For the first activities, equipment for such games as ping pong, shuffle board, chess and checkers will be available. All of the churches have volunteered the equipment they have according to Col. Edward Lindsey. Dancing is planned for both groups with dance band music for the high school and record player music provided for the junior high school. Refreshments will be served.

At present, a recreation leader to instruct games and dancing is being sought.

Transportation will be furnished for the junior high school students who meet at the bandstand on the square or at the Humble station.

The naming of two committees each composed of eight couples who will sponsor the first recreation nights was announced by Mrs. John Sims in a meeting Tuesday night of the executive board and nine parents.

The committee for the senior high is composed of the Col. Edward Lindseys, the Iverson Leakes, the Dudley Moores, the R. A. Nebletts, the Marion Higdons, the Jack Swatzels, the Hatcher Browns and the John Sims.

The junior high committee is the Riley Troths, the Dick Louders, the Bob Bellahs, the M. R. Callihams, the Gerald Warwicks, the D. A. Prichards, the Jack Barnards and the George Gibsons.

Mrs. Jack Barnard was named treasurer of the recreation program and will be a member of the executive board elected Nov. 20.

Mrs. Hatcher Brown reported that the student council has decided dress for the first recreation center nights should be appropriate for both dancing and active games, i.e., attire slightly dressier than school clothes.

Livestock Show Set Jan. 18-19

The Randall County Junior Livestock Show will be held in Canyon on January 18-19, 1957. The sponsoring association met recently to set this date to make plans for this important event.

J. O. Parker was elected to head the Randall County Junior Livestock Association and has already assumed the leadership. Parker replaces Dr. M. R. Calliham. Duane Howard is the new secretary-treasurer replacing H. R. Hungate.

The 1957 show promises to be another good one. The number of pigs shown will probably set an all time record. Lambs will be equal or greater in number. The number of steers shown will be under last year's showing.

Membership dues to the association support the show. Randall County 4-H boys and girls and FFA boys have made a fine record for themselves in many larger shows with the experience they have gained in Canyon.

Jaycees Start Lightbulb Sale

In an attempt to raise money for a Christmas program for Canyon, the newly-organized Jaycees will sell sacked light bulbs in a house-to-house campaign Thursday night.

The bulbs, with a value of $1.10, will sell for $1 a sack. They will also be available at Southwestern Public Service Company and Wayne Wirt Electric.

The Jaycees will attempt to call on every house in Canyon during the drive.

Don't Purchase Broom Yet; Lions Plan Sweeping Friday

Whoa! Don't buy that broom today. Don't buy any potholders, doormats, clothes brushes, dish towels or dish cloths, either.

Wait until Friday night. Beginning at 6 p. m., the Canyon Lions Club will bring those articles to your door, and save you the trouble of taking them home from the store.

The club is sponsoring its annual Broom Sale, with articles made at the Austin Lighthouse for the Blind. Proceeds from the sale will be split between the club and the Lighthouse. The club's portion will be used by the sight conservation committee.

The Austin Lighthouse, and others in the state, is a school for teaching blind persons how to make a living by making articles for sale. The articles are competitively priced, and are of first quality.

The caravan with the goods from the Lighthouse will also be set up on the square Saturday for the convenience of those who were missed during the house-to-house drive Friday night.

New Officers To Be Presented At Chamber of Commerce Banquet

New officers and members of the board of directors of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce will be introduced at the annual chamber banquet Dec. 13 in the West Texas State College cafeteria.

The Rev. J. Hoytt Boles, synod executive of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Synod of Texas, will be guest speaker for the banquet.

The Rev. Boles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Boles of Amarillo, was pastor of the Tulia Presbyterian Church from 1932 to 1939. He has been in executive work for the church since 1944, supervising church work in Texas and Louisiana.

Tickets for the banquet are available from the chamber office. Manager Roland Black urges that tickets be purchased as soon as possible.

The new officers of the chamber will take over in January. R. B. Allen is president this year.

Court Hears Reason For Jail Shortage

A misunderstanding between Architect L. A. Kerr and the Randall County Commissioners Court resulted in the jail facilities in the new courthouse annex being too small before the building is completed.

Kerr told the commissioners Monday that the additional cells which the court had believed were to be constructed would probably cost no more than they would have if they had been included in the original contract. He said he had tried to obtain a bid from Southern Steel Company, the jail contractors, and would have one at the next meeting of the court Monday.

In drawing the plans for the second floor of the building, where the jail is located, Kerr said he had understood that the commissioners wanted cell space for 32 prisoners, with more floor space available for later addition of more cells.

Accordingly, he planned the entire jail, then blanked out that area set aside for expansion when the specifications for bidding were drawn up, he said.

The jail, as now constructed, has cell space for 32 prisoners, including a cell for insane and a holdover cell. One space left unfinished, in the northeast corner of the floor, will hold cells for 10 more prisoners. That is the space which would be filled in now.

Another space, in the southwest corner of the floor, will be reserved for later expansion. It has room for cells for about 20 prisoners.

In other action, the court awarded a contract to Truitt-Townsend to supply two automobiles for deputies. The bid submitted by Truitt-Townsend was $1575 plus the trade in of two cars now in use.

Other bids were received from Imperial Chevrolet of Canyon and Plains Chevrolet of Amarillo. The Truitt-Townsend bid was low.

Neighborliness Plows J. C. Ogle's Fields

* * * * * *

Jim Bible finishes a day's work plowing the J. C. Ogle fields with his neighbors. The friends of the Ogles did the plowing last Friday.

By DOVIE CHERRY

When a fellow in one of Randall County's farm communities needs some help to tide him over a spell of tough luck, he knows he can count on his neighbors and friends, for they have proved that they're ready at any time with food, a tractor, a helping hand with chores or just a friendly word.

The neighbors in the Pleasantview and Jowell communities were living proof last Friday that Texas lend-a-hand neighborliness is here to stay, when 22 men got together to contribute or drive a tractor to plow the J. C. Ogle land southwest of Canyon.

The Ogle's son, Jessie, was critically injured in an accident three weeks ago, and the Ogles have had to be with him at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Time was passing and the fields lay unplowed. So, on Tuesday preceding the plowing, a neighbor, J. W. Spencer, mentioned to another neighbor about plowing the Ogle land. Soon the word was spread around to neighbors, Morris Abbott, whose son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren were involved in the accident, Billy Bible, Jim Bible, W. L. Browning, M. B. Brown, Bob Wilkinson, Joe Carver, C. S. Devenport, Edwin Devenport, Blain Hufnagle, J. W. Howell, Gene Howell, Albert Meyer, John Jennings, Erwin Meyer, Henry Meyer, J. V. Moore, Dan O'Donald, Frank O'Donald and S. O. O'Donald.

Cole and Moore, Consumers Fuel Assn., I. Clyde Davis (Gulf), Brasher-Walsh (Phillips) and Fisher Butane contributed free petroleum products for the 14 tractors.

Then men started about 8 a. m. Friday, a few arriving at that time and other tractors arriving from then until noon. By 3 p. m. the job was done—140 acres had been plowed. To save time and work, S. O. O'Donald rolled up a one-fourth mile of barb-wire fence.

But the plowing was only a part of the neighborliness shown in these three weeks. For the first week, C. V. Conatser and Claude Cooper went out and milked and cared for the Ogle's dairy cows. The dairy work is now being done by Jack Ogle, brother of J. C. Ogle.

When the accident happened, Fred Gerdsen for whom Jack works said, "You go out there and milk and I'll milk here."

When J. W. Spencer asked Carrol Dooley if he wanted to help with the plowing, Dooley said, "Yeah, but I'm fixing to have some hay hauled to those people." Spencer said that he believed Dooley intended to keep the approximately 36 dairy cows supplied with hay.

Others are helping out. Larry Paul, the Ogle's other son, is being taken care of by the Bill Wilsons, and 150 members of the First Baptist Church, the Calvary Baptist Church and the Baptist Student Center are taking turns sitting up

Start Drive For Members

A membership drive for the Canyon Little League will begin Monday with the goal of raising $5,500 to establish a Little League Baseball program in Canyon. Some $2,500 of the goal has already been subscribed by the Lions Club and the Rotary Club. The remainder will be needed to purchase playing equipment and construct a regulation diamond.

The ball park will be built at the northwest corner of the school property, next to Conner Park. The land was loaned to the Little League by the school board recently. It was loaned with the understanding that the school could reclaim the land whenever needed.

Charter memberships in the Canyon Little League will be $5 each, with membership cards available from several citizens. The League, under the temporary chairmanship of O. W. (Bud) Parker, has not made final plans for the drive, but will attempt a complete canvass of the city.

The Little League program provides organized baseball for boys below 12 years. The diamond, which is smaller than in regulation baseball, is the same as is required for softball, and the park will be used for softball when it is not in use by the Little League.

A Little League is set up in almost exactly the same manner as organized baseball leagues, with major and minor leagues, and a chance to play in a post season tournament, which ends in the Little League Baseball World Series, held annually in Williamsport, Pa.

The Canyon Little League will have a board of directors elected from the membership, who will direct the activities of the League. The League must consist of at least four major league teams, and may have as few as two minor league teams.

Each team will have a manager plus an assistant or a coach. The teams must have at least 12 players, and not more than 15 players each. A season consists of at least 18 games for each team.

Players for the teams are selected in much the same way as players are selected in the American or National Leagues. For the first season, all boys interested in playing will try out before the managers.

After the initial tryouts, a "Player Agent' will compile a list of those who wish to play, and the League age of each boy. The League age is the age that the boy will be on Aug. 1 of each year.

Each team manager is given 36,000 credits at the beginning of the first year. Following the spring tryouts, the Player Agent will conduct an auction at which the managers will bid for players, paying for their purchases in credits.

When the rosters of the major league teams are filled, the remaining boys will be put into minor league teams. Other boys who may join the League after the beginning of the season will be put in the minors, also.

In the event a major league player is lost during the season, the manager of that team may purchase another player from the minor leagues. Rules provide that no major league player can be sent back to the minors, however. No one may know the price paid for any player, except the managers and Player Agent.

The teams may have only five players who are 12 years old, and must have at least three who are 10 or younger.

Each player is uniformed, and only regulation sized equipment is used. The League provides the uniforms and equipment.

Parker said that the Little League program would probably be only the beginning of an organized baseball program for all ages in Canyon.

The majority of the money being raised this year will go toward outfitting the park and purchasing equipment of a permanent nature. All equipment will belong to the League, and will be turned in at the end of the season. The players will be allowed to keep their caps, however.

In order to protect the players, each batter and base runner must wear a batting helmet. The park will also have a dugout for each team, which will be screened to prevent foul balls from injuring a player in the dugout.

If the membership drive is successful, organization of the Little League will be completed this winter and play will begin next spring.

Further information may be obtained from Parker or from Bill Davis.

Mrs. Bill Perry of Abilene spent the weekend with her mother, Gladys Haines.

Last Friday afternoon, football season for Canyon High School stopped abruptly before a well-constructed brick fence. But before the most successful season in many a year is forgotten, it might be well to recap the activities of the 1956 Eagles.

This was probably the first Canyon team to win a bi-district championship. The team was the best one in the three Class AA districts in the Panhandle, as reflected by the wins they picked up. Spur was the winner in District 2-AA, and Canyon beat Spur. Perryton was the winner in District 3-AA, and Canyon beat Perryton. Canyon beat each of the teams in District 1-AA in taking the district crown.

The Eagles placed five men on the All District first team, the team selected by the coaches of the district. Three Eagles were on the second team and four on the honorable mention list. One Canyon player, Richard Burgess, was the unanimous choice of all the coaches of the district.

During the regular season, the Eagle offense averaged 337.4 yards per game, both on the ground and through the air. Their 10 opponents averaged 178.8 yards. The Eagles outscored their opponents 3½ points to one.

On the Canyon team was the top Class AA scorer in the north half of the state, and probably the second or third highest scorer in the entire state. Harlie Adams made 21 touchdowns during the first 10 games. He added three more during the two playoff games.

Coach Guy Harrison had 24 men on the squad from the beginning of the season, although the total was raised toward the end when the B squad was dissolved for lack of players and the men added to the A squad roster.

The team held their opponents to less than 100 yards rushing in four games, indicating a tight defensive line. They held two teams scoreless and held three more to only one touchdown.

In the regional game against Stamford, Canyon was not at its top strength. Elston Burkham was ill before the game, and played only a few downs. Richard Burgess suffered a shoulder injury in the Olton game and was playing for the first time since then—and was wearing a shoulder harness to keep him going. Don Britain suffered a knee injury in the Spur game and was not suited out for Stamford.

If the team had been at top strength, the story of the game would have been no different, at least the end of the story would not. Stamford has a much better team than Canyon, there's no doubt about it. However, if all all the first string players could have been playing, some of the details of the story might have been different.

The Canyon defense would probably have been tighter and Stamford would have made fewer yards and possibly one or two touchdowns fewer. Canyon might have been able to score once or twice more.

But Stamford still would have won the game. The only thing that might keep Stamford from winning the state championship game again this year would be for the entire team to get food poisoning or a virus infection on the day of a game.

The 1956 edition of the Eagles was one that all of Canyon can be proud of. I'm proud of them.

Henry Wiggins, who lives north of Umbarger, called the other night to tell about the last Eagle team to win an outright district championship. Back in 1927, when Mr. Wiggins was a player, Canyon beat Pampa for the district title, and played Slaton for bi-district, but lost.

In those years, the entire Panhandle was one district, and the championship was decided in a sectional game between the north half of the district and the south half. The Pampa-Canyon game was the sectional game.

Odus Mitchell, later the West Texas State line coach, was the coach at Slaton in 1927. In 1928, he moved to Pampa, but Canyon whipped Pampa again that year.

Included with Mr. Wiggins on that team were Rusty O'Donald, Jim and Ralph McCabe and Cal Williams. Mr. Wiggins said he could not remember all the squad, but most have moved away from this area. Jake Spann was coach in 1927.

Mr. Wiggins said that in those days, teams played spring games as well as fall games. In the spring of 1928, Canyon played Lubbock and won the game 54-0.

Does anyone remember if Canyon ever won a bi-district championship?

The British got all upset with the United States the last few days, and made noises about how the alliance between the two nations was in grave danger.

They were angry because the United States would not drop everything and send oil to England post haste. Their supply was cut off because of their own actions in the Middle East, and the noises they were making tried to make it sound as if their supply was cut off because of the United States.

Suppose your neighbor was the type of man who would refuse to pay his water bill because he thinks water should be free, and anyway, he doesn't like the city adding a little chlorine from time to time.

Suppose further that the city cut his water service off, as they would have the right to do. Suppose, even further, that you didn't bother to start filling buckets with water and carry them to your neighbor because he was out of water.

Then you might have a situation similar to that which exists between the United States and Great Britain now.

Your neighbor could get mad as all get out because you didn't bring him some water to drink. His flowers and lawn might die. He couldn't take a bath or wash the dishes. And it's all your fault, because you didn't take him any water.

If England had to do without oil completely, the Britishers would have no gripe coming, to my way of thinking. As it is, I can see no reason why they shouldn't buy oil from U. S. oil companies. But Britain has no call whatsoever to expect the government of the United States to supply oil to the British Isles.

I believe that Britain and France should pay the going price for every bit of oil delivered to those countries by any oil company. The United States government should not allow either nation to pay for the oil with any money that was borrowed from the United States.

The crisis in Europe has created a lopsided, artificial supply and demand situation in oil. The demand, quite high, has remained approximately the same as it was before the invasion of the Suez Canal area. But the supply has been drastically. In a free world market, we can expect the price of oil to rise, and if it does, the price increase will be passed to us as well as to the British.

The oil companies have already indicated there might be an increase in gasoline prices. I fully expect to see a price rise, and we American car drivers will have to pay. But I can't see us having to pay twice—once for ourselves, and once again when the British use borrowed money to buy oil from U. S. suppliers.

Nope, Britain has got to do this themselves, I say.—BC

Billy the Kid is the best-known outlaw of the Southwest—and his deeds are the most exaggerated.

He has been pictured as gallant, courageous, the champion of the poor. The fact is he was a killer whose gun was for hire. Quick on the draw and a crack shot, yes—but not satisfied with the advantage which these attributes gave him, he never allowed the other fellow an even break—unless he had to.

For example, he killed a sheriff from ambush.

Another example—when a faithful follower had been wounded as he stepped from a house and sprang back inside where Billy and his gang were holed up, Billy put a pistol in the man's hand and said, "They've got you; get as many of them as you can" and shoved him out the door and into a rain of bullets from the besiegers. Billy and his crew, facing hunger, surrendered.

It is true that on one occasion, Billy fought it out—but he was in a burning house and he and his men retreated before the flames till they were in the last room. Their enemies lay in waiting. One by one, Billy sent his men out until he was the only one remaining; then he leaped out the door, shooting, and killed a man, got over the wall and escaped. But that was a deed born of desperation. He had no choice. To surrender would have been suicide for his foes were sworn to kill him. Under those conditions, any man with a gun would have acted as he did.

When he was under sentence of death, he gained freedom by shooting one guard in the back, then—laying in wait—shot the other guard.

On one occasion, Billy and his men were riding along at night. Billy usually rode in the lead but tonight he changed places with one of his men. They entered an ambush and the man in front was killed. Did Billy have a premonition and give his follower the place of greatest danger? Quien sabe? In view of his record, however, it's likely.

His admirers have expressed indignation at "the deep damnation of his taking off." The truth is, he knew that Pat Garrett was after him and he would have shot Garrett without compunction had opportunity presented. In the dark room, Garrett was questioning the owner of the ranch when the Kid entered. Garrett knew that in a moment Billy would see him and would recognize him because of his extreme tallness so Garrett drew and fired and the bullet found its mark.

And so died Billy the Kid who in his 21 years of life had killed 21 men, "not counting Mexicans and Indians."

The man died but the legend has lived and grown.

One of Canyon's fair ladies had a bad case of the blues last week and since nothing cures the clues like buying a new hat, she went into a millinery shop, sat down in front of a mirror, got what looked like an energetic young clerk to wait on her, and then had the time of her life.

She tried on nothing but the biggest, the most expensive, the most outrageous hats in the shop. She tried on one monstrous lampshade creation, blew back the black feathers, peeked at herself in the mirror, giggled and handed it back to the clerk.

"Too commonplace, haven't you something more exciting?" So the clerk handed her a bigger price to try. It was a Jim Dandy with lace, net, velvet, ostrich feathers—the whole works spread out over a yard wide brim. Her blues were gone now, because she giggled fit to die. The clerk probably wished she would.

Well, she kept on trying on hats for over an hour until she had sighed, moaned, snickered and giggled her way through nearly every hat in the store at which time she stood up and with the air of a prima donna, fluttered her eyelashes and said, "Thank you. I was only looking."

Long may we genteel ladies reign.

Still working under that question mark. Come on, some of you intelligent people help me out. If you don't I'm going to have to think of a name for this column. Please, pretty please.

Did you ever wonder how chocolate covered cherries are made? Which came first, the chocolate or the cherry?

☆ ☆ ☆

Music can soothe the savage beast—us human beings, that is.

☆ ☆ ☆

The more one thinks about it, the more one realizes that music can have a marked effect on people. It can do wonders for tension. Take Perry Como and Bing Crosby for instance. Look how relaxed they are. They both look like life is one big back-rub. Perry and Bing say that when they are tense, they sing just for their own enjoyment.

Like the lyrics, "Without a song, a man ain't got a friend."

But music can work two ways. Thelma Fulton discovered this when several men came to work on her house. She put on some lively music, and she said the workers whistled and worked up a storm. When she changed the music to something slow and easy, the men worked slow and easy. Soon they were saying, "Oh, it's hot, darn it." They were all out of sorts.

A test conducted recently showed that people read faster when in the same room where fast, lively music is being played.

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday "War and Peace" will show at the Varsity Theater. Don't miss it. It's an excellent movie. If you have read Toltoy's classic novel, you know that the movie had a lot to cover and Paramount gives it "brilliantly pictorial" treatment.

It has Audrey Hepburn (hers a captivating portrayal), Henry Fonda and Mel Ferrer.

One dog got the surprise of his life recently. A just, plain old onery dog who was evidently in the habit of getting his meals out of people's legs, ran up, bit a man, and then backed off and stared with the most amazed look on his face.

It was the sheriff the dog had bitten. But that wasn't the reason for the dog's amazement. The sheriff had a wooden leg.

That was one of Paul Harvey's noon broadcast featurettes.

I don't know which I prefer, dust which blows or dust which just hangs in the air like that last Thursday. Neither probably. It was a wise idea to keep off the grass Friday—the cloud of dust that puffed up didn't do much for black suede shoes.

The markers set up along Fourth Avenue when a center line was being painted really slowed traffic to the speed limit. Maybe such a setup would be a sure-work accident prevention, at least for head-on collisions since it's impossible to pass with those markers in the middle of the street.

What's your worst fear? Many women have confessed to me that their worst fear is hitting a child when driving especially where cars are parked along the street. "I'm afraid I couldn't stop in time. If a child ran out from behind a car, I know I couldn't see him until it was too late," they say.

Not too long ago, I had the daylights scared out of me. I was starting to move out of a parallel parking place. I had got in the car, looked in the rear-view mirror and all was clear. I started the motor, put the gear in reverse and glanced back to see how much room I had, and saw not the car behind, but a young girl. In those few moments the girl had walked behind my car. Fortunately she was large enough for me to see in the rear-view mirror.

And again in Amarillo, I was driving in one of the housing areas where there are a large number of children. I had slowed down to way below the speed limit and was approaching the middle of a block when I saw a boy, about two years old, on the edge of the street. Looking directly at my car, he walked out nonchalantly and sat down in the middle of the street and grinned at me. Well, I'm glad I saw him before I got there.

It's a gruesome fact that in too many car-child accidents the child runs into the car, many times the middle of the car, rather than the car hitting the child. And many times all the person driving the car could have done would have been to have stayed home that day.

What's to be done, especially in crowded housing areas where there is not enough room for youngsters to play? How can children, those of reasoning age, learn without bitter experience that cars can kill?

Did you hear about the little girl who was riding downtown with her daddy when a big bus pulled alongside their car. "Look, daddy, look! There's a houndog bus!" she squealed.

David and Martin Hughes, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hughes, were decorating Christmas cookies last Friday. David stopped halfway through and Martha said, "Well, help me, David." "I'm sick," said David. His mother reminded him he could work without licking the icing on his fingers. "But I can't," he said. "I can't work without licking, and I can't lick without working."

Give Gifts With Personal Touch, Pretty, Palatable Packed Candies

For the Christmas gift with an extra special personal touch, what could be better than some sweet and fragrant goodies from your own kitchen? Candies and confections are just what the cook (and special friends) ordered.

Make candies and confections several days ahead of time and pack in tin boxes lined with foil or cellophane, add a bright ribbon and a gift for some lucky person or family is ready to go.

If your mouth waters at the mere mention of candy, especially fudge, get ready to drool over this easy recipe with the secret ingredient.

Chocolate Fudge

4 cups sugar
1 cup boiling water
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
6 tablespoons corn syrup
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 4-oz. package cream cheese
¼ cup butter or margarine

Add all ingredients except cheese, vanilla and nuts and mix well before cooking and do not stir again. Cook slowly until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Set off stove, add ¼ cup butter or margarine and cream cheese to mixture. Let set one hour, then add vanilla and beat. When mixture loses its glossy appearance, add nuts and pour out into a greased container. Cut into serving size pieces.

Or maybe you would like this fudge recipe.

Million Dollar Fudge

4¼ cups sugar
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 large can (14½-oz.)
2 6-oz. packages chocolate chips
1 jar marshmallow cream (8 oz.)
1 lb. nuts (chopped)

Boil together the sugar, butter or margarine and evaporated milk for about 7 minutes after first bubbles come, or until a soft ball stage (235 degrees to 240 degrees F.) is reached. Put chocolate chips, marshmallow cream and nuts in a large bowl. Pour syrup over and stir until chocolate is dissolved. Beat until cool and creamy. Drop on waxed paper or pour into greased pan, cool and cut into serving size pieces.

☆ ☆ ☆

Yum, yum—Date Loaf!

3 cups sugar
1 cup milk
¼ cup white corn syrup
½ pound pitted dates
1 cup chopped nuts

Cook sugar, milk, corn syrup and dates to soft boil stage (235 degrees to 240 degrees F.). Stir as needed to prevent burning. Remove from fire. Cool to 104 degrees F. which is just above lukewarm. Beat until it begins to harden. Add nuts and turn on to a damp cloth. Shape into a roll 2 inches in diameter. Let stand until firm. Cut into slices as needed. This candy will keep some time if tightly covered. 25 to 35 slices, ¼ inch thick.

Friends will probably appreciate this old favorite —

Peanut Brittle

3 cups sugar
1 cup white corn syrup
1 cup water
1 pound (2½ cups) raw Spanish peanuts
2 tbls butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soda

Cook sugar, corn syrup in water until it forms a hard ball in cool water (250 degrees F. - 260 degrees F.). Add unblanched peanuts and continue to cook until the mixture turns a golden brown. Remove from heat and stir in butter or margarine and salt. Stir in soda. Pour onto a greased slab and pull out to thin sheet. Break into pieces when cold.

Butter Toffee

½ cup butter or margarine
2½ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ lb. blanched almonds or pecans (halved)
2 sq. unsweetened chocolate (optional)

Melt butter or margarine in skillet; add sugar, salt. Heat slowly, stirring constantly to dissolve sugar. Mixture should turn a light brown; add almonds or pecans, stirring until nuts become light brown or about 10 minutes. Pour immediately into well-buttered pan. If used, melt chocolate over hot water, then spread over surface of candy. Break into serving pieces when cold.

For lovable nuts, may we suggest

Pecan Roll

2 cups sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 tbls butter or margarine
⅛ teaspoon soda
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup corn syrup
Pecans

Cook all ingredients together except butter or margarine and pecans until the mixture forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire, add butter or margarine and cool. Beat until creamy. Turn out on pastry board or marble slab dusted with powdered sugar. Knead until firm. Shape in a roll about two inches thick. Roll in chopped pecan meats. Press nuts firmly into candy. Keep in a cold place until firm enough to slice.

☆ ☆ ☆

Holiday Delight

(Here is a candy with festive flavor, bound to win friends' favor)

3 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1½ cups light cream
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Combine sugar, corn syrup and light cream and cook to a soft-ball stage over medium heat. Remove from heat and begin beating immediately. It will begin to thicken and change color. Add vanilla and continue beating. Have ready the following fruits and nuts, and add slowly to mixture:

½ lb. Brazil nuts, halved
½ lb. pecan halves
½ lb. candied cherries
½ lb. walnuts, coarsely chopped
½ lb. candied pineapple, cut in large pieces

When these are all added, mixture will be thick and sticky. Pack into waxed paper lined loaf pan, pressing down firmly with a wet spoon. Place in refrigerator to chill. After a few hours the sticky syrup will become firm and almost white in color. Cut into pieces after 24 hours. Store in refrigerator until ready for use.

Frosted Grapes

2 egg whites
2 teaspoon water
2 bunches grapes
Loaf sugar, crushed

Beat egg whites and water together until frothy. Dip grapes into mixture, coating each one well. Drain slightly, then sprinkle with crushed sugar. Let stand overnight in a cool dry place.

Candied Cherries and Plums

Remove seeds from ripe cherries or plums. Dissolve two cups of sugar in 2 cups of water. Add ¼ teaspoon cream of tarter, and boil until it forms a thick syrup. Skim, add the fruit and cook slowly until tender. Drain well, place on platters or in baking tins lined with absorbent paper. Dry in a slow oven, 250 degrees F., changing the paper often. When free from moisture, sprinkle well with sugar and pack in boxes or jars which have been lined with waxed paper. Place waxed paper between each layer of fruit. Seal and store in a cool place.

Candied Orange Slices

Peel and quarter oranges; make a syrup of 2 cups of sugar and 2 cups of water. Boil until it forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from heat; dip orange quarters in the syrup. Drain until cool in a fine seive placed over a platter or bowl so that the syrup will not be wasted. The sugar will be crystallized. Grapefruit and tangerines may be candied in the same way.

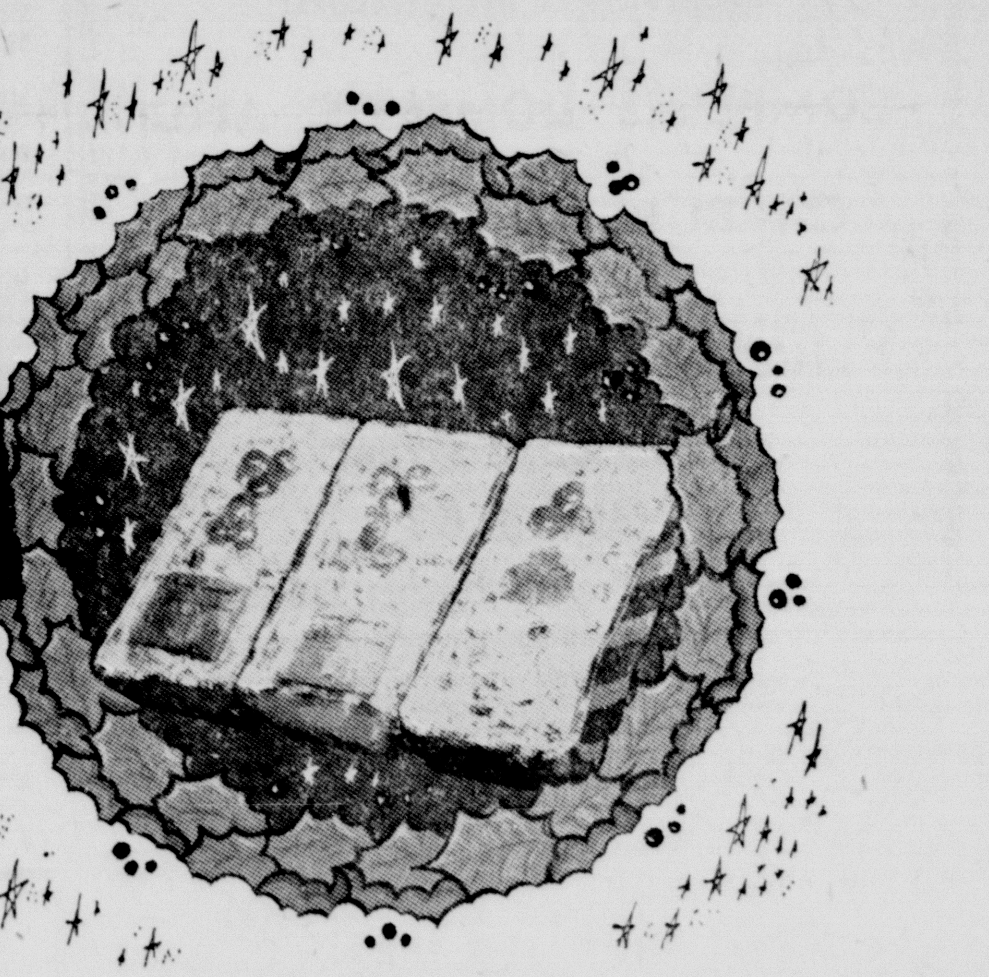
"Baking results become really important when I'm cooking several fruitcakes at a time!"

says MRS. BILLY HENRY
520 WEST VIRGINIA ST.
FLOYDADA, TEXAS



GETS CONTROLLED HEAT

"I've cooked electrically for years, so naturally when I bought a new double oven range, it was electric. When I am working with expensive fruit cake ingredients, my baking temperature must be exact. I have found that an electric oven gives me exactly the controlled heat I want."

RANGE DOES PERFECT JOB

"The double oven model is excellent, not only in my fruit cake baking, but comes in handy for family dinners and entertaining friends. Handy, too, for quick snacks are the surface units . . . they're so fast. I find my new range does a perfect job whether it's a quick snack or the fully loaded ovens."

LIKES ELECTRICITY

Mrs. Henry describes her home as an electric one and she says, "We are all proud of our electric appliances which make living more enjoyable."

Christmas is coming and Mrs. Henry has turned her love for baking fruit cakes into a profitable business during the holiday season. Last year she baked over 500 pounds of fruit cake in two weeks . . . a tribute to the exactness and accuracy which electric baking gives.

At Christmas Time, Cook Better Electrically with a New Electric Range!

Stamford Stomps Canyon, 48-12

Stamford ran its undefeated string to 29 games and took the regional championship Friday afternoon in Childress by downing the Canyon Eagles 48-12. The game saw the Bulldogs able to score almost at will and hold Canyon to only 11 offensive yards and no first downs during the first half.

Stamford scored on the second play from scrimmage, four times in the second quarter, and twice more in the last quarter. Canyon's scores came in the third and fourth quarters.

Harlie Adams scored both touchdowns for Canyon, and both were on screen passes from Charles Neblett. Adams made 62 yards rushing and 57 on passes.

Stamford's victory was complete. The Bulldogs totaled up 445 yards rushing, 108 passing and made 25 first downs. Canyon was held to 96 yards rushing, 120 passing and 11 first downs.

The game began with Canyon kicking off to the Stamford 25. Kenneth Ivy covered the ball there and Stanley Hill was held for no gain on the first play. Mike McClellan took the ball between left end and tackle, was hit near the line of scrimmage, but bulled through to race the 75 yards for the first score. Dwaine Lindsey's kick was good.

Canyon took the next kickoff on the 32 and Adams made one yard to the 33 on the first Eagle play from scrimmage. Boydston picked up two yards to the 35 and Neblett attempted a pass. Pruett kicked on fourth down to the Stamford 20.

Quarterback Nickie Jackson returned the kick to the 30. Kenneth Ivy lost one yard on the first scrimmage play, McClellan picked up seven, then lost one yard. He kicked out of bounds on the Canyon 46 on fourth down.

Neblett was stopped for no gain on the first play, attempted a pass, then pitched out to Pruett, who tried another pass. Pruett kicked to the Stamford 12 on fourth down.

Jackson took the ball again and ran back to the 30. Stamford started a drive there that ended in a touchdown in the second quarter. Kenneth Ivy was held for no gain, McClellan made three, Kenneth Ivy made six and McClellan went back into punt formation. He ran the ball instead of kicking, and picked up a first down on the 43.

Kenneth Ivy carried twice, ending up on the Stamford 47. Jackson threw across the midstripe to Dallas Christian on the Canyon 43 for another first down.

Kenneth Ivy carried to the 41 and McClellan raced to the end zone on the next play, but the touchdown was called back for a backfield-in-motion penalty against Stamford.

Larry Ivy carried to the 36 and Kenneth Ivy made a first down on the 32. McClellan ran to the 23 and Kenneth Ivy picked up another first down on the 14. McClellan carried to the six to end the first quarter.

Jackson kept the ball for a run to the three, McClellan bulled to the one and Kenneth Ivy went over for the second Bulldog score. Lindsey's kick was good again.

Adams took the Stamford kickoff on the five and returned to the 29. He made three yards on the first play, Eddie Boydston was stopped on the line of scrimmage and Pruett carried one yard. He kicked to the Stamford 33 on fourth down and Jackson ran back to the 49.

A clipping penalty on the runback put the ball on the Stamford 25 and the Bulldogs started another touchdown drive. It took 10 plays and a 15-yard penalty against Canyon to put Kenneth Ivy over for the third Bulldog score. Lindsey kicked good again to make the score 21-0.

Stamford kicked off to the end zone and the ball was put in play on the 20. A holding penalty on the first play, an incomplete pass by Neblett, put the ball on the 5. Adams made one yard, then another and Pruett kicked to the 45.

McClellan ran the kick back to the 37 and Donald Davis ran to the 32. He took the ball a second time and ran the 32 yards for the fourth Bulldog score. Lindsey's kick made the score 28-0.

Stamford kicked to nine and Neblett ran back to the 29. On the first play from scrimmage, Neblett threw to the Stamford 38 where Jackson intercepted the ball and was downed.

This time it took seven plays for Stamford to score. After working the ball to the 26, Darryl Schoonmaker, the second string quarterback, threw to Rufino Escobedo for the 26-yards touchdown. Lindsey missed his first extra point kick.

Stamford kicked off to the 15 and Ronald Crow returned to the 22. Pruett picked up two yards, Neblett tried a pass and Adams was held for no gain. Pruett kicked to the Stamford 42, but there was no runback.

Davis ran to the 45, Schoonmaker tried a pass and the half ended.

The Eagles kicked off again in the second half and Jackson ran back to the Stamford 34. In five plays, the Bulldogs had worked to the Canyon 17. A clipping penalty put the ball back on the 29 and Schoonmaker threw a pass.

Neblett pulled the pass in on the two and raced back to the 25 before he was caught. He threw two incomplete passes, then completed his first to Boydston on a screen pass. Boydston ran to the 41 for the first Eagle first down.

Neblett carried to the 45, then ran across the 50-yard line to the Stamford 44 for another first down. He tried a pass, then Adams ran to the 38. Adams carried again, this time for 19 yards to the 19. Pruett carried to the 16 and Neblett threw a screen pass to Adams.

Adams took the pass near the line of scrimmage and ran the 19 yards for the first Eagle score. Neblett's extra point try was no good.

Stamford took the kickoff back to the 41 and kicked from the 41 on fourth down after gaining yardage on runs only to lose on penalties. McClellan kicked to the Canyon 23 and Neblett ran back to the 28.

Neblett passed to Brandon for 12 yards, then passed to him again for another 12. Neblett's next pass was incomplete, so Adams ran from the Stamford 48 to the 42. Neblett carried to the 40 and Adams went to the 24.

Adams tried a pass, Neblett tried one, then connected with Boydston for a first down on the 11 as the quarter ended. He threw another incomplete pass. On the next play, Neblett was rushed almost off his feet, but finally threw to Adams, but he was downed on the 14 for a loss of three yards.

Neblett threw to Brandon on the eight on third down, but his fourth down pass was incomplete and Stamford took over on downs on the eight.

In three plays, the Bulldogs had the ball out on the 33 and McClellan took over to run 67 yards for the sixth touchdown. Lindsey kicked good again.

Taking the kickoff on the 16, Snapp ran back to the 31. Adams made nine yards and Canyon picked up another five because of a delay-of-the-game penalty against Stamford. Stamford was penalized five yards on the next play, putting the ball on the 50.

Boydston carried to the Stamford 48 and Neblett threw to Leonard Miller on the 44. He tried another pass, then called a screen pass to Adams.

Adams took the toss on the 44 and headed out for the goal line. Six Stamford players took a shot at Adams as he alternately bulled and faked his way downfield. He crossed into the end zone to make the second Canyon touchdown, but Neblett's kick was no good again.

Stamford took the kickoff on the 25 and ran to the 33 to drive again for the goal. It took 10 plays to go 67 yards, with Larry Denson crossing from the 14 to make the score. McClellan kicked the extra point, making the final score, 48-12.

Neblett took the kickoff on the 10 and ran back to the 33. Eagle Coach Guy Harrison emptied the bench for the next series of downs.

Ronnie Huyck carried to the 34, the Eagles were penalized for offsides and Huyck carried again, picking up six to the 35 as the game ended.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The supervisors o fthe Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District are interested in the range and pasture planting program, that will be carried out under the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank Program.

The purpose of range seeding under the conservation reserve is to take land out of production. To do this you must first have a cover on the land in which to seed the grass.

After the cover is established the grass should then be seeded. The warm season grasses could be seeded in the spring of the year and the cool season grasses could be seeded in the spring or the fall of the year.

Some grasses and recommended seeding rates and dates are listed below:

Blue Grama—March 15-May 1. 1.5 lb. pure live seed alone, 1 lb. pure live seed mixed.

Sideoats Grama—March 15-May 1. 3-5 lb. pure live seed alone, 1-2 lb. pure live seed mixed.

Buffalograss—March 15-May 1, Sept. 1-Nov. 1. 3-6 lb. pure live seed.

Western Wheatgrass—Sept. 1-Nov. 1. 10-15 lb.

Switchgrass—Jan. 1-April 15. .7-1 lb. pure live seed in rows, 1.5-3 lb. broadcast.

Sand love grass—Jan. 1-April 15. .5-1.5 lb. pure live seed.

Weeping love grass—March 15-May 31. .5-1.5 lb. pure live seed.

The grass should be planted with a grass drill and covered about one-half to three-quarters inch deep.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

BY LOUISE ALLEN

A farewell is a fragile thing. Of all human relations, this one is most vulnerable to error.

A greeting, if bungled, may be forgotten in the pleasant hours of understanding that lie ahead between two persons. Its stiffness is credited to need for becoming re-acquainted, or to temporary shyness. A first introduction, no matter how awkward, becomes the topic for later jokes and expressions of amazement, when the parties introduced — now fast friends — recall those first impressions.

But a farewell — between two lovers, a parent and child, a husband and wife, neighbors and friends — like a delicate teacup, shatters easily with clumsy handling.

Tears, no matter how real, may arouse pity, scorn or resentment: "It's an attempt to hold me," the injured person thinks indignantly. "She wants to spoil my trip." "He doesn't want me to have any freedom."

Too much show of affection arouses a question as to how sincere its motives: "Is this a pretense instead of real love?" "Is he thinking of himself or of me?"

Honest emotion shades quickly into sentimentality that mars the symmetry of a neat goodbye. Indifference may close forever a door of understanding. A hint of impatience, looked back on later, suggests an attempt to hide real disagreement for just a few more minutes, until the temptation to provoke the quarrel is safely past. A careless joke takes on subtler meaning than was ever intended.

Yes, farewells are fragile. But those who have never had a real farewell spoken, with all its possible sweetness and sorrow, have missed some of the deeper meaning of contacts with his fellow man.

Eagles Slam Spur, Take Bi-District Crown

The Eagle's Tale

31st Year

Published by The Canyon News for Canyon High School

Wednesday, December 5, 1956

"Our Father, which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom . . ." A tired group of happy athletes huddled together with heads bowed as they thanked God for being with them throughout the game. Only minutes before this same team, after a hard fought game against Spur, had gone out on the field to receive a trophy inscribed "Bi-District Champions."

Captains Elston Burkham, Harlie Adams and Charles Neblett received the trophy. The team defeated Spur 28-13 for the bi-district championship.

With their victory the Eagles became eligible to play Stamford, the defending Class AA state champions.

In the dressing room after the game there was the usual backslapping and joyous shouting. But there was a deeper feeling of accomplishment and a sense of satisfaction felt only when one has given one's best.

The Spur boys had congratulated the Eagles after the game. "Nice game, fellows. We hope you go all the way."

The team complimented Spur on their fine determined line. The line was very strong and had virtually halted Canyon's running attack. However, quarterback Charles Neblett passed the Bulldogs out of the game. He completed 11 passes of 26 tries for a total of 173 yards passing. The scoring parade began with 3:11 left in the first quarter when A. L. Pruett intercepted a Spur pass and ran it back 32 yards for a touchdown. Neblett kicked the extra point, chalking up a score of 7-0 against the Bulldogs.

With the score being 7-7 and only one second left in the half, Charles Neblett passed to Larry Brandon, who broke the tie. Neblett converted and the Eagles led 14-7.

The third quarter had advanced 7:24 when Canyon on Spur's 48 struck a blow. Neblett's jump pass to Leonard Miller who covered the remaining 33 yards cinched the score 20-7. Then Neblett's conversion was good and the score stood 21-7.

With four plays behind him, Harlie Adams grabbed a pitchout and ran eight yards for the tally. After Neblett's good conversion, Canyon led 28-7.

Spur scored with 2:14 left in the game, and the final score stood in the Canyon Eagles' favor, 28-13.

To Give Is Best

To give is to receive. But do we often find ourselves receiving more than we give?

In our times of prosperity it is easy to give thanks for our good health, warm homes, safe country, and friends when they can be had virtually just for the asking. It is easy to be under the illusion that we are truly thankful for our loved ones, our strong bodies, our free land, for do we not go to church on Sunday, and give special thanks at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter? The real joy of giving thanks comes when we contribute our last penny and rejoice because we had it to give.

When the time comes that one has nothing to give and is deprived of the blessings of life which are taken for granted, a genuine feeling of gratitude for life itself springs up. One feels that life has dealt fairly and tries to repay the debt.

Trite expressions of thankfulness are replaced in the life of a grateful person by down-to-earth actions of good will, aid and charity.

CHS students and others of the community had an opportunity for exhibiting thankfulness when a call for blood was made to help Jesse Ogle on his way to recovery.

Jesse, 16, was severely injured in an auto accident on Nov. 6. He was a former member of the student body. Many students showed their willingness to donate blood. Strict requirements automatically rejected most of their offers. To be a blood donor one must be 21 years of age or 18 years old and have parents consent. Nearly all the students of Canyon High are under 18.

Still there are many in the community eligible to give blood for Jesse Ogle. Why not you? All that we send into the lives of others comes back tenfold into our own.

Rings Give Motto

The inscription on our class rings reads "Courage, Knowledge, Service, Truth, Loyalty, Honor."

These few simple words have guided many a Canyon High student to higher standards. They will do the same for us.

Courage is not reckless daring. Courage is the ability to keep going when it appears that one is licked or to walk again after a long illness. It is fighting for a cause, not just fighting to be fighting.

Knowledge if defined by Webster is the act of clear perception of truth or enlightenment. Knowledge is broadened by study.

Service is the performance of duties that will benefit one's school, one's community, state or nation. Serving now gives training for the future.

Truth can be interpreted two ways. It can be interpreted as honesty or fidelity. Fidelity in this sense is being faithful to the high ideals of life.

Honesty is just what the term implies—telling the true facts.

Honor means a nice sense of what is right, true and just. It is just a fancy term of excellence of character.

Live up to this motto the best that you can each day and "you will be a man, my son."

Press Staff Studies Cartoons

Editorial cartoons galore! Room 38 has lots of editorial cartoons on the bulletin boards. The journalism class has been clipping them out of newspapers and studying them.

The cartoons are on subjects of interest today. They are on the Suez Canal, the Hungarian situation and politics. Editorial cartoons of Thanksgiving and religion are other interesting ones.

There are related stories, feature stories, columns and editorials concerning the cartoons along with them.

Essay Stresses Traffic Safety

What are the components of a good driver?

First, the operator must be in good physical condition. His reflexes should be normal. The driver should have the knowledge of the mechanical operation of his car. Not that he should be able to repair the automobile, but that he might understand how to keep the car in good running order.

A driver who has all the attributes mentioned above, however, is not necessarily a safe driver.

A person who drives while under the influence of alcohol is a deadly driver. One doesn't have to be intoxicated to be under the influence of liquor. Just one drink is enough to lessen the mind's capacity for safe driving.

One who knows the laws but doesn't obey them isn't a safe driver. If it takes a traffic officer cruising along behind one's car to make one obey the laws, something is wrong with one's attitude. One should obey the law because that is the safe thing to do and not because there is a policeman nearby.

A bad attitude shows in many different ways. The speedometer needle creeping over 60, a car parked on the wrong side of the street, or failure to stop at a stop sign are signs of a bad attitude. A safe driver does not have a bad attitude toward driving.

A person who drives while upset may be a safe driver at other times but he's certainly not at that time. Driving under emotional strain lessens the operator's ability to concentrate. Concentration is needed for safe operation of a vehicle.

The safe driver anticipates that a child may run out ahead of the car and is prepared to stop. The driver may be said to be a defensive driver.

In summation, a safe driver is one that drives as if he were the other fellow.

White Deer Girls Trim Eaglettes

The Canyon High girls basketball team started this season with a 41-50 defeat administered by White Deer. The Eaglettes scored all of their points in the first three quarters but could not hold off their opponents.

High scorer for the team was Janie Brotherton with 19 points. Mary Sue Bolton, Marilyn Winn and Joy Rose each dunked five points to tie for second high scoring honors.

Starters were Florence Clement, Mary Sue Bolton, Janie Brotherton, Carolyn Glanton, Marcus Robinson, and Traverne Gillham. Others who played were Barbara Brown, Jane Ledbetter, Sandra Michael, Marilyn Winn and Joy Rose.

At the end of the first quarter Canyon led 15 to 13. White Deer took the lead at the half, 29 to 24. Canyon was ahead at the end of the third period, 41 to 40. White Deer scored 10 points in the final period, while Canyon was unable to score.

An unidentified Spur player attempts to bulldog George Snapp, No. 10, during the bi-district game at Plainview Nov. 23. Eagles Dory Funk, left, and Roy Hunter, center, move in to aid George.

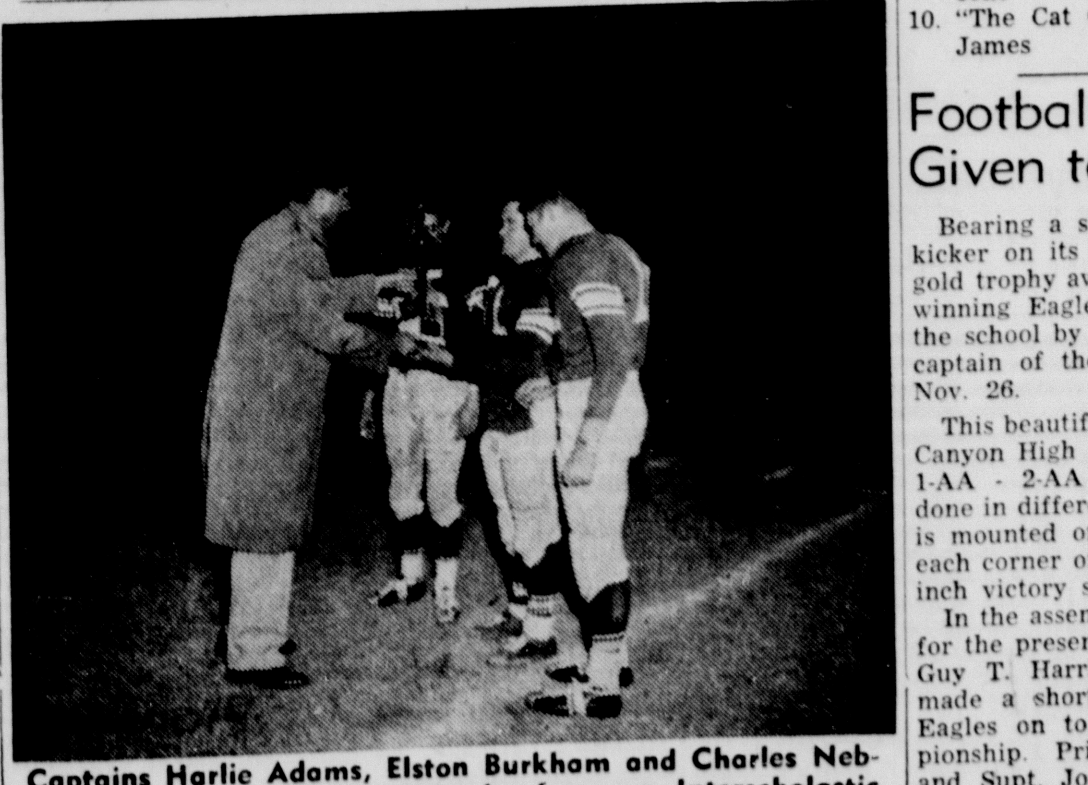
Intramurals Name School Champions

Two teams, Craig Hinger, Larry Brotherton, Carolyn Glanton, Barbara Brown, are the school champions in the intramural game of horseshoes.

The second place teams are Bob Zachary and Weldon Tucek, juniors, and Mary Sue Bolton and Marcus Robinson, seniors.



Captains Harlie Adams, Elston Burkham and Charles Neblett receive the bi-district trophy from an Interscholastic League official after the team's victory over Spur.

CHS Celebrates 2nd Thanksgiving

Little Jack Horner sat in his corner eating his Thanksgiving pie while CHS students licked their platters clean of turkey and pumpkin pie on Nov. 29 and 30.

Students here set in the mood for the holiday when on Wednesday, Nov. 28, a Thanksgiving dinner of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings was served in the high school cafeteria.

Although many in the United States and many in Texas celebrated Thanksgiving on the fourth Thursday, Nov. 22, Canyon High followed the Texas law which states that the date of Thanksgiving is the last Thursday in November.

Puppets, Long General Favorite, Performed as Early as 300 B. C.

Puppets, colorful and seemingly animated images of the human figure, have long been performing the dramas of life in little street corner theaters. Puppet shows were a special attraction to children and the uneducated in the early days. Now puppetry stands on its own merits, high in a field of entertainment which is a favorite of many.

Puppets, of a kind, operated by "string pullers," entered the world of entertainment as early as 300 B. C., the time of the early Greeks as the writings of Horace and Aristotle show. During the long ages since puppetry has passed through stages of perfection and has come out making use of all the mechanical ingenuity of our age.

String operated, solid puppets probably started in the western world. During the middle ages puppets were used in religious dramas, and here the marionette had its beginning. The Virgin Mary was a character in a play, and she was called Little Mary, or marionette, and the name was later applied to other puppets.

Hand puppets, rod puppets, hand and rod puppets, and finger marionettes, which are the different types, found particular popularity in various parts of Europe. The hand puppet was especially popular in Spain, while the rod type caught Germany's fancy. Marionettes made as knights in armor were prevalent in Flanders and Sicily.

Punch, an especially well-known puppet character, came from Renaissance Italy to France. He was known as Polichinelle until England received him in the 1660's and called him Punch. The first text of a Punch and Judy show was published in 1828.

In one way or another puppets were made known in the 17th and 18th centuries. German town-clocks often bore puppets which moved as the clock striked, and in 1674 a puppet opera was well applauded in Paris.

The idea of puppets went from Europe to China. From China a form of puppetry probably crossed the Bering Strait into America, for the Indians had puppets before the white man came.

Puppet shows introduced the theater to many Americans who otherwise had no opportunity for entertainment. Also puppetry has given much to Americans in the way of hobbies. String marionettes, which are the most popular in the United States, are simple to make, although not so easy to control, and are made out of every-day material.

Football Trophy Given to School

Bearing a six-inch gold football kicker on its summit, the 25-inch gold trophy awarded the bi-district winning Eagles was presented to the school by Elston Burkham, co-captain of the team, on Monday, Nov. 26.

This beautiful trophy awarded to Canyon High School for being the 1-AA - 2-AA champs of 1956 is done in different tones of gold and is mounted on an ivory base. In each corner of the base is a three-inch victory symbol.

In the assembly called especially for the presentation of the trophy, Guy T. Harrison, football coach, made a short talk, speeding the Eagles on to the regional championship. Principal J. E. Miller and Supt. Joe Gibson challenged the Eagles and the student body to begin the week of preparation for Stamford with plenty of pluck and keep up that spirit until victory is completed.

The bi-district champs stood in assembly and received roof-raising applause and cheers from enthusiastic CHS supporters. Charles Neblett, Harlie Adams and Elston Burkham, co-captains of the grid team, were seated on the stage during the presentation of the trophy.

Shorthand Class Writes Pen Pals

Have you ever had a pen pal? The shorthand students of CHS can answer "yes" to this question.

The students in the shorthand class this year have selected correspondence as the class project. Letters will be written in shorthand.

"Shorthand students will begin to receive the names of other students before the Christmas holidays," said Mr. O. H. Schuette, business instructor.

To get the project started the 25 students first sent names to the headquarters in Moaitowac, Wis. At the headquarters the names will be sent all over the United States. Then some students somewhere in the United States will write one of the CHS students.

Posse Searches Out Lost Books

Have you seen any library books walking around sticking their noses into your lockers, hiding under the seats in the auditorium, snooping in the cafeteria, running around in the halls, or playing in the gym?

CHS Library Club voted to help Mrs. Nora Gilmore, librarian, by returning lost or over-due books to the library.

Margaret Johnson and Charles Nester were chosen to write a letter to Helen Guthrie, who is in the Shrine Hospital, Houston, and will return to Canyon soon.

Articles of interest are being collected by the club to make a scrapbook. The articles are being collected for students to use as research in many different subjects.

Those attending the meeting on Nov. 20 were Patsy Beard, Betty Ray Campsey, Beverly Colwell, Traverne Gillham, Ina Jo Hughes, Mary Ann Irlbeck, Margaret Johnson, Bill Cornette and Charles Nester.

Kenton Harvey Visits FFA Here

Kenton Harvey, state FFA president of Texas, spoke to the FFA members of Canyon on Nov. 26. Kenton is from Azel, Texas. He was elected the state FFA president at the Dallas state convention. While visiting here Kenton was a guest in the Jack Campbell farm home.

Kenton discussed many issues in his talk. He praised the FFA chapter of Canyon for its work and accomplishments and Canyon and the surrounding country for its agricultural advancements. A question and answer period followed.

Pictures of the local chapter officers greeting the president as he arrived were made by Cotton John's KGNC radio and TV staff.

Demonstrations of sharpening tools, welding, laying out rafters, and livestock judging were made by Kenton.

Tryout Slated For Band, Choir

Tryouts for All-State Band and Choir will be held at West Texas State College Dec. 7.

A number of students will be selected from Region XI to play in two All-State Bands in Dallas at the Texas State Music Educators Association Convention, Feb. 13-16. Region XI includes all schools in the Panhandle from Tulia northward. Only nine players will be selected. There is a possibility of a few more; therefore competition is very stiff. The concert band will prepare a concert to be given the night of February 15, and the reading band will play as many compositions as time allows.

On Tuesday, Dec. 4, three members of the Music Arts Club selected three students from the high school choir to try out for the All-State Choir at the college. At the district tryout, Mr. Royal Brantley and Miss Elsa Porter from WT conducted the auditions. Region XI is allowed 24 voices. Canyon High students competed against students from Amarillo, Pampa, Borger and other towns in this district. The All-State Choir will sing in Dallas in February for the convention.

Hud Prichard Honored With Retirement Party During 27th Annual Duck Dinner

After 43 years of service with the telephone company, Hud Prichard will retire on Dec. 31 as "combination man" in Canyon.

Prichard was honored at the 27th annual Duck Supper of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company last Saturday night. The supper, held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel in Amarillo, was the latest in a series that began 27 years ago in Prichard's home in Canyon.

Southwestern officials and Prichard's co-workers chose the annual dinner as the occasion for his retirement party, although his official retirement begins with the beginning of 1957.

More than 100 Southwestern employes attended the dinner, including company officials in Canyon and Amarillo and "Foots" Bland of Fort Worth, division plant superintendent. Prichard's son, Lt. Col Hud Prichard of El Paso, shared honors at the head table during the dinner.

The program was a pantomime of Prichard's early hunting trips.

The retiring worker was given a series of gifts, including a trophy topped with a green-head mallard duck. The trophy was inscribed "To the Dean of Duckhunters from the Telephone Company."

Other gifts included insulated fishing boots and insulated hunting boots, a dozen goose decoys, wrist watch and a portable television set.

At the same time that the annual Duck Dinner for employes was being held, a similar dinner was being given for wives of the employes and Mrs. Prichard was the honor guest. She was given an engraved compact, a $25 gift certificate and a scroll signed by all present that told of her husband's early carees and hunting experiences.

The entire Prichard family shared the gift presentation. Following the party, the annual Duck Dinner Dance was held.

Prichard began his career with the telephone company in Canyon as a "grunt man," a groundman. He worked up to the top of the pole as a lineman, and eventually became the "combination man,' in charge of the plant department here.

Canyon Represented At Area Convocation

Some 1,200 persons were in attendance for the sessions which featured training for local church adult leaders. Registered from Canyon were Jeannette S. Scott, David R. Matthis, Mrs. Nina Grace Matthis and H. Doyle Ragle, who served as the convocation program director.

Rotary, Lions Move Meetings

The regular meetings of the Rotary and Lions Clubs will be moved from the First Methodist Church basement to the American Legion Hall beginning next week.

The meeting room of the Legion Hall has been remodeled and new kitchen facilities installed for the use of the civic clubs and other organizations which need a meeting place. Use of the hall may be obtained from officers of the Legion.

Ogle Fields--

with Jessie.

The Ogles didn't miss their Thanksgiving turkey and dressing this year thanks to community neighbors who shared some of their holiday fare and sent it by Spencer to the hospital.

The story doesn't stop with nearby neighbors but extends to 11 Amarillo Air Force Base men who contributed blood. They are A. P. Doust, L. W. Surber, O. P. Thomas, A. R. Vilt, W. C. Sheets, Ervie Ham, E. Carrer, D. Graham, J. Guckert, C. Turner and W. T. Jubert. Doubtless there are others offering or giving blood who are not mentioned here.

This is only one of the times the Pleasantview community has helped a neighbor. C. S. Devenport knows what help from a neighbor means. One spring when the winds were blowing hard, he was laid up with a broken arm and operation. Neighbors came and plowed his field in time to stop the land from blowing away.

S. O. O'Donnell can also tell you about his neighbors. During the war when all three of his sons were in the service, men in the community came and stacked his feed.

John Jennings was ill and neighbors came to take care of a badly needed feed stacking job, and when the late Milton W. Dooley was sick the farmers were there to plow his fields.

It seems the Christmas spirit doesn't come just each December in the farm communities, but stays there all year long. Spencer, who has lived in the Pleasantview community since 1940, says, "I would rather live in this community than any other place in the Panhandle."

Mrs. C. H. Stratton returned Thursday from Bartlesville, Okla., where she had spent the past week with her son and his wife.

Charles Boling, student at McMurry College in Abilene, spent Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, the Bob Bolings.

Approximately 300 high school musicians from the Panhandle's Region XI, Interscholastic League, are expected here at West Texas State College Friday to audition for spots in an all-state band and choir.

County Agent Has Certificates, Dealer Lists for Rate Reduction

Randall County livestock men may now receive freight rate reductions on hay and roughage shipped by western railroads. This reduction will apply to cattle feeders. Dealers who buy hay for resale will not qualify.

The county judge of each county will issue a certificate to each eligible feeder. This certificate will qualify the hay buyer to receive the rate reduction. John Brazzil, county agent, will have a supply of these certificates and can aid local feeders if they are interested.

There are no plans underway to bring in hay under a government program. Each feeder must locate his own supply. Brazzil has a file on hay dealers from other states which gives price quotations.

Certification under the FHA Emergency Feeding Program is not necessary. This rate reduction does not apply on trucked-in feed. For more information contact the county agent.

By MRS. CLYDE W. WARWICK

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McBroom and their two children, Tommie, who is a freshman in Canyon High, and Marva, 11, moved recently into their new home at 1713 Second Avenue. The home was moved to this location and completely redecorated inside and out.

It has 11 rooms, six bedrooms upstairs, which the McBrooms intend to rent to college boys, three bedrooms downstairs which the McBrooms use. Mrs. McBroom says they are certainly enjoying their roomy house. A housewarming party was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brock and Mrs. Jean Canada of Amarillo. Over 30 guests attended or sent gifts.

The McBrooms rented their old home at 1201 Fourth Avenue to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis and their three boys. The Arthur Davis family recently moved to Canyon from Oklahoma.

Joe H. Bailey, librarian of WTSC and a lover of birds, has some very interesting stories about birds in the Sunday editions of the Amarillo News. I have noticed that while your yard may be full of birds they do not sing like they do in the spring. I asked Mr. Bailey if he knew why this is. He said it might be because they were courting in the spring and moulting in the fall, but, he said he was not sure that was the reason.

"I gave and giving, I grew richer . . . I comforted, and comforting, found peace."

A letter from Floris Felix, the young man from Amsterdam, Holland, the Rotary Club brought to Canyon to spend the summer, says: "I wonder what people in Canyon are thinking about the situation in the world. You know, people in Canyon were not too familiar with other parts of the world. I had the idea that the papers don't give enough information about other countries on the whole. People feel very uneasy here at the moment, and there have been violent demonstrations against the Communists. Shop windows of Communists' shops and papers smashed, and of the Russian Embassy as well.

"About 1,200 Hungarians will stay in our country. The first 600 arrived yesterday.

"People are also rather divided about the Anglo-French action in the Suez Canal zone. In London there have been demonstrations against the government. But in Paris there were no reactions. I was there for a couple of days in November, but everything was quiet. They were furious about Hungary, though. All of a sudden the situation is pretty grim again.

"It seems so long ago now that I was in Canyon. But I enjoyed it very much, and I am thinking a great deal about it. Remember me to the people in Canyon. Aloiis."

Someone has said, "You are closer to God in a garden than anywhere else on earth." I have often questioned that. I do not deny you are close to God in a garden where unfolds from the same soil, the same care, the beauty, the perfection of a rose, a lily, a tomato, a cucumber and a watermelon, but now, after spending many weeks in hospitals this last year, I believe you are closer to God in a hospital than anywhere else on earth.

In a hospital one runs into all the human emotions that come closest to the heart and life of mankind. The beginning and the end of life and all the woes and accidents that befall mankind through life.

Here one sees the young couple taking home their first born, a look of Heaven and wonderment in their faces, unable to understand this the age-old miracle 'Unto us a child is born!'

One day I saw a young father in the hall, wheeling his wife who held their new baby, as we met he hesitated long enough for her to lift the blanket and show me their baby . . . so great their pride and joy it must be shared with me, a passing stranger.

There are those who with thankful hearts take their loved ones home cured by the miracle of surgery and medicine.

There are those whose weary, wane, transparent faces reveal the agony of those who watch, hoping science will find some way to cure the suffering of those they love.

And, always the thoughtful, kind skillfully trained doctors, nurses, aides and all the many helpers it takes to run an efficient hospital. It is people like these that make this a wonder-place to live.

☆ ☆

And now power companies tell us that in the future we will be able to flip switches to raise or lower table surfaces to any height. Electricity will bring beds out of the walls in the evening . . . then "make" them and fold them into the walls in the morning. The power that controls your home's climate will even do the dusting. This I hope I get to see.

☆ ☆

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Longbine, who recently moved to Amarillo where Mr. Longbine operates his own business and Mrs. Longbine is with Northwest Texas Hospital, still love Canyon and want to be remembered to their friends.

☆ ☆ ☆

Then spake Jesus again to them, saying, "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."—John 8:12.

Saturday Coffee Honors Graham

Saturday at the ranch home of her parents, Mable Graham will become the bride of Lt. Lester Packer of Washington, D. C. Last Saturday, a coffee honoring Miss Graham was given in the home of Mrs. Lee Foster, 1201 Fifth Ave.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Walter Graham and Miss Graham. The bride-elect and her mother wore identical brown dresses with velvet trim and bronze corsages.

Alternating at the coffee service were Miss Graham's sisters, Mrs. Nolon Henson and Billie Graham. Sallie Foster and VeeNoy Harrington assisted at the dining table.

Highlighting the fall motif used in the dining room was a table centerpiece of brass rings filled with yellow and gold asters backed by fall fruit, leaves and cattails. A pair of china pheasants flanked the centerpiece.

The motif was carried out on the buffet with a gold and brown winter bouquet and tall brass candlesticks holding brown candles. Guests were served toasted sausage rounds, cheese straws, pumpkin tarts and salted nuts at the table laid with an imported cutwork cloth from the Philippines.

The honoree was presented with a gift of a sterling silver compote by hostesses, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Joe Gibson, Mrs. F. A. Pierce, Mrs. T. H. Knighton, Mrs. L. L. Byars, Mrs. Roy F. Harrington, Mrs. L. S. Johnston and Mrs. I. F. SoRelle.

Approximately 40 women signed the guest book.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

In the Nick of Time

We recently had an experience which prompts us to make the following observation. In writing to your Senators or Congressman in Washington, always address the envelope to him at the Senate Office Building or the House Office Building (as the case may be), Washington, D. C.

You should also show on the envelope that the addressee is a United States Senator or a Member of Congress. The Post Office Department does an excellent job of getting these communications to the Senators or Representative with the greatest of haste, realizing no doubt that it is a communication between a citizen of this country and the government under which he or she lives.

The experience to which I refer has to do with a letter that was addressed to me at a house in which I formerly lived here in Washington. A young man who was desirous of entering one of the service academies addressed his communication to the residential address because it was a personal matter to him and one of great importance.

But, the Rogers family had moved to another house and the delivery of the letter was substantially delayed. However, it did come into my hands on the day before the date set for the eligibility examination of those boys desiring to compete for appointments to one of the Academies.

I was able to get hold of this young man and to get into his hands a wire authorizing him to take the examination. He is a fine young man and it would have been a tragedy if he had missed the opportunity to take the examination simply because of a mixup in the mails.

Many people are under the impression that mail addressed to the office of a Senator or a Member of the House of Representatives very seldom comes to his personal attention, but is handled by a secretary.

I cannot speak for other Members of Congress, but I can say that every piece of mail that comes to my office from the 18th Congressional District of Texas, or a person who has legal residence in that District, comes to my personal attention. This is true even though I may not be in the Washington office at the time the mail arrives.

I make these observations so that everyone will know that it is much better to address communications to me at the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. It is a pleasure to receive your letters at my home, but there is much less risk of delay if the letter or wire is sent to the office.

The War Situation

Although war might be declared in many quarters in this world before this letter reaches you, it seems to be the general feeling in Washington that the danger of any all-out war has lessened measurably.

If Britain, France and Israel withdraw their troops from the Suez area and permit the area to be policed by the United Nations, the danger of any all-out conflict will be lessened considerably more.

It is hoped that by the time this communication reaches you these three countries will have agreed to the suggestions of the United Nations and have removed their troops. It is also hoped that by that time work will have commenced on removing the obstacles that are now blocking the Canal.

It must be remembered that the accomplishments of these tasks, although a great forward step toward a solution of the problem, will not provide the answer to the fuel shortage in Europe because of the refusal of Arab nations to continue to furnish this oil.

This problem is of staggering proportions and upon its proper solution may well depend the answer to the question of whether or not there is another war or peace in our time.

If this Middle East situation can be worked out to an early solution, it will enable the eyes of the entire world to focus on the Hungarian situation and certainly cause Russia some uneasy moments, not only as to the uprising in Budapest but also as to Russian policy in Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Russia would be in a very untenable position to deny entrance of United Nations observers into the Hungarian Capital.

Such developments, as an early solution to the Near East problem, would afford an excellent opening for the Western allies to put Russia into a foreign policy corner where she would be forced to do one of two things.

She would have to admit United Nations observers in an effort to try to settle the Hungarian dispute, or openly confess to the world that she was dominating her satellite states by force and arms and did not intend to take any other course.

Foreign Aid and the Farmer

Few people realize that our foreign aid policy has been directly responsible for many of the ills besetting the American farmer. This country, among other things, did the following:

1) Promoted through foreign aid an increase of 5 million foreign acres.

2) Financed 2600 deep irrigation wells in India.

3) Made available 260 million dollars in agricultural loans.

4) Provided 1 billion dollars to promote agriculture in foreign countries.

5) Provided half a billion dollars for farm machinery and equipment.

6) Provided 738 United States paid technicians to give foreign countries the know-how. No wonder the American farmer is being pushed out of the world market.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin's feud over O. Henry's "Honeymoon house" has people over the state taking sides.

Bone of contention is a weatherbeaten frame cottage where the famed short story writer took his bride 69 years ago. History-lovers want to preserve it as a "beautiful tribute." Austin Heritage Society gained City Council permission to move it into a park adjoining an exclusive westside residential area.

Nearby homeowners call it a "vermin-infested junk heap." They say they'll sue.

While park-lovers fumed, history lovers got the house loaded on a truck, began inching it into the park. Stories went out across the country and brought back a tide of advice for each group. But no solution.

Co-Op Case Reopened

Texas Supreme Court has agreed to take another look at a case to decide electric power selling rights.

Issue is whether rural electric cooperatives can continue service in areas after they are annexed by cities. In August the Supreme Court refused to review lower court decisions in favor of the co-ops.

Suit was brought by the attorney general, numerous private utility companies and the League of Texas Municipalities. On the other side is the Upshur Rural Electric Cooperative, backed by 54 other co-ops and the City of Gilmer.

Private utilities contend the law restricts co-ops to towns of 1,500 or less. Co-ops say they can't be thrown out once they've legally entered an area. No date for arguments was set by the high court.

State Wins Prize Money

Businesses offering prizes to customers must pay a 20 per cent state tax, according to court ruling.

Third Court of Civil Appeals so judged in a suit against Mrs. Tucker Foods, Inc. It offered coupons worth 15, 25 and 50 cents with cans of shortening. Attorneys for the firm argued the prize tax applied only to theaters and places of amusements.

District and appeals courts interpreted the statute as apply to "any business enterprise."

Hospital Director Resigns

Dr. James Bethea, executive director of the State Hospital System since 1953, has resigned effective June 1.

Dr. Bethea will be 70, statutory age for retirement, next October. He said he submitted his resignation early to give the state hospital board plenty of time to pick a successor.

Board members will take up the matter at their next meeting Dec.

Drought Ups Welfare Payments

Impact of the drought is reflected in climbing old age payments, says the Department of Public Welfare.

In its annual report the department said it added 533 to the old age rolls during fiscal 1956, compared to only 90 the year before. Drought, it said, reduced income, not only of oldsters, but of children and relatives who helped support them.

Total old age assistance payments for 1956 were $111,410,645, parceled out in monthly payments from $5 to $55. Average was $41.71. Cost is paid 33 per cent from state funds, 67 per cent from federal funds.

"Young Texan" Jury

Picking of the five outstanding young Texans of 1956 is under way. Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce has announced the committee which will name the honorees.

They are Ben H. Wooten, president of the First National Bank, Dallas; T. Harrington, chancellor of Texas A&M College; Vern Sanford of Austin, manager of the Texas Press Association; Walter G. Wright, president of the General Telephone Co.; Malcolm Meek, Abilene bank president; Dr. Stanley W. Olson, president of Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston; and Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas.

Texas, The Mighty

Texans, despite their reputation for boosting the home state, find they can hardly outdo the latest account by outsiders.

U. S. News and World Report devoted 17 glowing pages to "the new powerhouse of the United States." Post-war industrial boom, says the magazine, has made the state a "modernized Goliath." It's "an empire that keeps getting mightier," says the report, because it's "so big and so naturally rich."

Statistics cited: factory output, up 690 per cent since 1939; business activity, up 488 per cent; oil and gas production, up 468 per cent; construction, up 303 per cent.

Conclude the editors: "The United States is finding more and more that it cannot get along without Texas."

New Good Roads Exec

Callan Graham of Houston has been named to succeed Jim Lindsey as executive vice president of the Texas Good Roads Association. Graham is a former Kimble County attorney and legislator. Lindsey is speaker of the Texas House of Representatives and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Short Snorts

Texas hatcheries produced 9,261,000 chicks in October, a 16 per cent increase over last year.

Egg production also rose to 186,000,000, or 12 per cent more than the previous month.

Texans paid out more than $165,000,000 for hunting and fishing privileges during the 1956 fiscal year.

William J. Burke, purchasing agent for the City of Corpus Christi, will become executive director of the State Board of Control on Dec. 15. He succeeds Walter Bell of Fort Worth, who retired in October.

Texans fattened Uncle Sam's treasury with $2,406,585,000 in income taxes during the last fiscal year. Total U. S. income tax collections for the period totaled $75,100,000,000.

Texas now is second only to Mississippi in number of certified tree farms, with 912 farms covering 3,434,853 acres.

October draft registrations totaled 6,018.

Texas Employment Commission reports placement of 51,172 persons in non-farm jobs during October. Agricultural placements totaled 38,820.

Prolonged drouth and increased discharge of industrial waste have greatly increased its responsibilities in checking local water supplies, reports the State Department of Health. Accelerated growth of Texas cities created another problem. Officials estimated some 25 to 30 per cent of the 800 domestic sewage units inspected were overloaded.

If junior loses a school book, he must pay the full price, regardless of the book's age, according to a new ruling by the State Board of Education. Formerly book costs were depreciated 15 per cent a year. But it was too confusing, and unprofitable besides, the board decided.

A Sport Reports

By DICK KRANZ

Canyon's season came to an abrupt stop Friday afternoon and most of the college fotball teams have rung down the curtain. But professional football still has several weeks to go and Pittsburgh, invited to the Gator Bowl, will meet Miami, Fla., University in the final major college game.

With Canyon being eliminated 48-12 by defending Class AA champion Stamford, just two Panhandle area football teams remain in the state title picture — Littlefield in Class AAA and Stinnett in Class A. Thus basketball is in full swing for those two schools.

★ ★ ★

The University of Miami Hurricanes don't leave home very often. Of the 10 games the Hurricanes scheduled this season only two were played away from the home field.

The Hurricanes played Texas Christian at Fort Worth and traveled to Gainesville, Fla., to battle the University of Florida.

Coach Frank Kimbrough's West Texas State Buffalo football team will rest over a week or so before resuming drills for the Tangerine Bowl meeting with Mississippi Southern the night of Jan. 1 in Orlando, Fla.

The Buffs will depart for the Florida city the morning of Dec. 29 and arrive, via chartered airplane, that afternoon. Oddly enough, West Texas will be considered the home team in the game.

The Buffs basketball team, now on a week-long road trip, won't play another home game until Dec. 15 against Centenary which opened the season by downing Texas A&M.

While football is just about over, the weekend television diet still will be tasty for the football fan. The Pittsburgh at Miami game will be telecast by KGNC-TV.

And KFDA-TV officials announce the station will televise two professional football games this weekend. The station will have the Green Bay at San Francisco game Saturday afternoon and then carry the Chicago Cards at the Chicago Bears pro grid game Sunday afternoon.

The professional regular schedule will continue through Dec. 23 when Washington and Baltimore end their seasons. Most of the National Football League elevens, however, will end the campaign either Dec. 15 or Dec. 16.

Naturally, the major bowl games will be telecast. The Tangerine Bowl is attempting to sell the broadcast rights to a national broadcasting outfit, but no announcement has been made as to whether they've been successful.

★ ★ ★

With football season over, this column, too, will be concluded unless there is a wild demand for it to continue through the basketball season. We hope to see you all again next football season. Thanks for your interest.

★ ★ ★

The post season football bowl lineup is: Rose Bowl — Iowa vs. Oregon State; Cotton Bowl — Texas Christian vs. Syracuse; Orange Bowl — Clemson vs. Colorado; Sugar Bowl — Baylor vs. Tennessee; Gator Bowl — Georgia Tech vs. Pittsburgh; Tangerine Bowl — West Texas State vs. Mississippi Southern.

New Tax Rebate Will Cover Year

According to John Brazzil, county agent, Randall County farmers have been asking about making another application for a Federal Gas Tax Rebate.

This rebate is paid back to farmers who use the gasoline for farming purposes. The three cent tax is used on road-building and maintenance.

Farmers claimed their tax rebate for the first six months of 1956. The claim was made in the period, July-September, and was for two cents per gallon.

The next claim will be for three cents per gallon of gasoline used on the farm but will cover a 12 month period. The second rebate will not be paid until July, 1957.

The procedure for claiming state tax rebates has not changed and farmers are urged to continue to make periodic claims as in the past. He should keep a record of gas purchases and uses in order that he may have proof when the next claim is made.

The Suez Canal is 108 feet wide and 31 feet deep.
